

SFR Medical transforms the way medical evidence is processed, one victim at a time.

The current method of obtaining medical evidence for use in criminal cases is complicated and inefficient, and often leads to delays in charging decisions and the premature release of suspects who are likely to re-offend.

As the only supplier of these services in the UK, SFR Medical provides medical evidence at an affordable price, in an acceptable time frame, and with the quality that is required.

Our solution

We manage the process from request to report by introducing operational and proprietary software solutions. Our Client Relationship Managers work directly with individual officers and hospital secretaries. Our Medical Transcribers are ready to create high-quality reports at any time, from anywhere.

Since this is our sole focus, we ensure that medical evidenced is produced quickly.

Benefits

- Reduce average waiting times for medical evidence from 67 to five days
- 84% efficiency savings for police forces
- Lower the possibility of revenge crimes
- Increase confidence in police

Our story

Founder and CEO Dr Johann Grundlingh is an NHS Emergency Medicine and Intensive Care Consultant who is passionate about challenging and changing inefficient healthcare processes. He has seen the impact that not getting high-quality and timely medical evidence has on victims and the broader criminal justice system.

After getting his MBA in 2018, he and co-founder and CTO Suyash Shrivastava started SFR Medical to address the pain points they uncovered in the medical evidence creation process.

We know that the police have more important things to do with their time than follow-up on the status of their medical evidence. We also know that doctors prefer to see and help patients rather than get bogged down by paperwork.

Our solution alleviates the burden for both parties, reduces the average wait time for evidence by 96%, and introduces an 84% efficiency savings for police forces.

Under co-founder and CMO Dr Lucy Grundlingh's guidance, we've written a few thousand reports, on-boarded multiple forces, and partnered with several hospitals. And co-founder and CCO Lisa Helfer ensures that our business is well-positioned to grow and collaborate with additional forces to further support all victims of violent crimes.

Thank you for giving us the opportunity to understand how we might be able to help you.

As an Emergency Physician working in one of the largest trauma centres in the UK, I have seen firsthand how the human body can be destroyed through senseless violence.

Too many tears have been shed on my shoulder and too much blood has been spilt on my scrubs ... all whilst I've watched suspects walk free because of a lack of evidence or simple procedures failing.

I will always be a doctor but believe that the criminal justice system is ripe for disruption.

We're here to do just that.
